

Chococcino

How we help George and Liz from Chococcino better their restaurant

Chococcino is a well established and successful Cafe/Restaurant in North London. George and his wife has been running the business for over 10 years.

EPOS Solution

Two QT-6000 touch screen terminals networked together and to a bar printer and a kitchen printer. Magnetic Dallas keys are included for staff to log onto the system.

Business benefits

They can monitor the behaviour of their staff though the use of the staff Dallas keys, which are very quick and easy to log on with and being magnetic are incredibly reliable.

As soon as orders are entered into the system using the QT6000 touch screen terminals they are sent to the kitchen printer and are printed out for the chefs to view.

Their cash can be looked after by ensuring every sale is rung up with the right price and by controlling who accesses their cash draw.

Their system has become simple and easy to use allowing staff to concentrate on looking after their customers

Their use of counter space is now better utilized and their customers are impressed with the modern and low profile modern design.

What they say...

“With IKA’s help and expertise we can now relax and take time off in the knowledge that our business is running smoothly and securely. We know every order is being rung up with the right price and customers get served exactly what they order. I had no idea we could achieve this for only £16.50 a week.” – George and Liz (managing directors).
