

Kingley Club uses QT touch screens to better serve their customers

“This sleek, chic hangout has a top-notch VIP heritage”

The Kingley Club is one of London's most desirable venues. The club is situated just off Golden Square, in Soho's Kingley Court; on the former site of the legendary 1960's Pinstripe Club.

The Club offers guests an intimate and wonderfully chic environment. Enjoy fabulous drinks and the freshest cocktails at the stunning glass bar; then mingle and party amongst private booths and tables enclosed by dramatic aquariums – all within ultra modern surroundings.

The Pinstripe Club was where the 1960's rich and famous mixed, partied and exchanged numbers - all whilst enjoying plenty of champagne!

In its heyday, this legendary venue attracted regulars such as Oliver Reed, Peter O'Toole, Audrey Hepburn, George Best, Steve McQueen, Richard Harris and Laurence Olivier; even Marilyn Monroe & Tony Curtis visited whilst promoting the Hollywood classic 'Some Like it Hot'.

EPOS Solution

Three QT7300 touch screen terminals which are networked to a back office pc with stock management software (PC-HOS) installed.

Business benefits

The QT range of Casio touch screen cash registers were desired by the Kingley club as they are perfectly suited to modern and chic bar environments. The installed tills are spill proof with a sealed front panel and a large LCD screen. The combination of the networked QT's and the back office pc running PC-HOS provided by IKA Retail solutions has enabled the Kingley club to more efficiently monitor every aspect of their business activity ie. Controlling prices, stock and purchasing.

PC-HOS includes advanced features such as order recommendation facilities which looks at the sales of products in order to predict future sales figures and then provide recommended quantities to order based on the sales forecasts and current stock levels.
